

October 2009

Press Release

Air Energi goes Arctic

Air Energi is pleased to announce the opening of its Alaskan branch office in Anchorage, situated in the heart of the Downtown area. The office will support both new and existing clients in the provision to the North Slope projects executed in, and destined for, Alaska and its' proposed major pipeline projects.

Ian Wheaton, Deputy CEO/VP Americas believes that opening the office will demonstrate our alignment with the strategies of our client base.

“ In conjunction with the ever increasing commitment towards localization, whether contractually obliged or not, Air Energi demonstrates our knowledge and desire of our clients towards this initiative and we are fully committed to this goal. Opening the Alaska office is a natural next step in our USA operations and it is our belief that to continue to provide the service levels to our clients for which we have become recognized, locally supporting their needs is essential. The Board of Directors of Air Energi are fully committed to investment in resources to continue to provide our service.

”

To contact our Alaskan Branch:

Air Resources Americas LLC, 310 K Street, Suite 200, Anchorage, Alaska 99501
Tel: 907 264 6705 | Fax: 907 264 6706

Air Energi has been a global provider of manpower solutions to the energy sector for over three decades and is now operational in over 50 countries. We aim to build long-term relationships with all our partners, to help achieve a commercially satisfactory outcome to every project and to maintain those relationships on successive projects into the future.

Our unique consultancy approach, problem-solving skills and comprehensive service provision enables us to provide significant benefits to our clients and puts us at the forefront of international energy recruitment.